

UW EARTH DAY

2020

April 22, 2020 marks 50 years since the University of Washington participated in the very first Earth Day. Since that first event in 1970, students, faculty and staff have pushed to advance sustainability at the UW and beyond.

The UW is recognizing the 50th Earth Day with events throughout the year hosted by a variety of departments, student groups and other organizations. The celebrations will include EarthFest on Red Square on April 22, 2020.

Visit green.uw.edu/earthday throughout the year for updated information, event calendars, volunteer opportunities and more.
